

Reds Take Over Hiltop Resort

By JOHN T. WHEELER
Associated Press Writer
PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The battle for the Kiri Rom plateau ended today in a major Communist victory as the last government troops fled from the hill resort.

The Cambodian command released no casualty figures for the 18-day battle, but several hundred government troops were believed killed or wounded. Five government battalions were ambushed, overrun or driven down the slopes in confusion.

Enemy losses were believed considerably less.

One Cambodian field officer said the defeat might force his senior officers to re-evaluate their defense strategy. Western military experts said the government should have abandoned the area 60 miles southwest of Phnom Penh when it was first overrun July 11. They said it was of no strategic importance, and the battle was an obvious enemy trap to cause heavy government casualties.

It was the second major Communist victory in Indochina in a week. U.S. forces abandoned Fire Base Ripcord in the northwestern sector of South Vietnam last Thursday after North Vietnamese fire killed 61 Americans and wounded 345 in three weeks of attacks.

After the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese drove one battalion from Kiri Rom at the start of the battle, the government rushed more than 1,500 troops to the area to do battle with an enemy force estimated at more than 1,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

After several days of inflicting heavy losses on the Cambodians, the enemy forces pulled back and let the government troops regain considerable territory on the top of the plateau. Then they closed in and cut the roads up the slopes, leaving four Cambodian battalions under siege.

Two of these battalions were thrown into headlong retreat down the slopes Monday by heavy mortar fire and enemy assault troops. The Cambodian military spokesman said it was decided to withdraw the rest of the force for "tactical reasons" and that they made their way down safely.

Heavy clouds prevented effective air support by Cambodia's tiny air force and South Vietnamese gunships. The government forces also had no artillery support.

Electricity Fails N.Y. on Hottest Day

By BOB MONROE

Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — From sweltering subways to dimmed skyscraper corridors, New Yorkers felt the pinch of the city's power shortage Tuesday as they struggled through the hottest day of the year.

Subway service was temporarily cut 30 per cent, telephones were run on emergency power. Major buildings reduced air conditioning, halted some escalators and elevators, and turned off lights.

The cutbacks in electrical use combined with voltage reduction and the purchase of 1.35 million kilowatts from outside the city enabled power-short Consolidated Edison Co. to ease through the day as the mercury hit 94 degrees.

With more hot and humid weather forecast through Sunday, the power crisis was expected to continue.

A stable high pressure air mass extending from the Gulf of Mexico to New England has not only caused the heat wave, but also shrouded cities from New York to Atlanta in an annoying haze.

The Weather Bureau said Tuesday that atmospheric conditions in a seven-state area bounded by Philadelphia, Atlanta and Chattanooga could cause potentially serious air pollution. Pollution alerts were issued in Washington and Baltimore, but officials throughout the area said conditions did not yet constitute a health emergency and caused no serious problems.

New York's power crisis stems from the loss of two major generating units responsible for 17 per cent of Con Edison's capacity. Both are out for repairs the rest of the summer.

Sylvan Hills Sues Against Bussing

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A group of residents of the Sylvan Hills area near here filed suit Tuesday in U.S. District Court seeking an injunction to prevent the Pulaski County School District from busing pupils solely for the purpose of achieving racial balance.

The Pulaski County School Board had voted to bus some students in the Sylvan Hills area to the Harris Elementary School.

The plaintiffs, all white, contend the change violates their

Seniority System in Congress Stands Up to Initial Attack

By EDMOND LEBRETON

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The venerable seniority system, which keeps venerable congressmen in committee chairmanships, has survived the first legislative assault aimed at it in recent years.

Hammering out a legislative reorganization bill, the House Tuesday refused either to require committee election of chairmen or simply to state that length of service should not be the only standard.

However, some members who voted against the proposed amendments said they were not wedded to seniority, but thought the matter should be handled in party caucuses, rather than by legislation.

Nothing in the law or the rules of the House provides that the chairman of a committee must be the member of the majority party with the longest service.

But the custom has hardened almost into inflexibility, especially in the 60 years since the House revolted against the heavy-handed Speaker Joseph Cannon, who named and removed chairmen depending on how their performance pleased him.

There have been exceptions. In 1967 the Democratic caucus removed Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., accused of mishandling committee funds, as chairman of the Education and Labor Committee. Powell later was denied his seat by the House.

As the system operates, party caucuses make the original committee appointments and members move up to chairman or ranking minority member posts as their seniors die, retire, are defeated, or shift to other committees.

The average age of chairmen now is 70. Defenders of the system argued that no workable substitute has been devised to avoid political infighting within com-

Alaskan Oil Strike Told to Kiwanis

Lindell G. Forbes, of El Dorado, advertising assistant of Monsanto's Lion Oil Division, was the guest speaker at Tuesday's meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Hope.

Mr. Forbes discussed the North Slope Alaskan Oil Discovery, illustrating his talk with color slides. "In many ways the discovery of oil in Alaska is one of the greatest adventure stories in modern history," said Mr. Forbes.

Alaska, our 49th state, covers 586,412 square miles. It is greater in area than the next largest states combined, yet it has the smallest population of any state.

The North Slope, within the Arctic Circle, though beautiful in many respects, is a desolate, forbidding, practically uninhabited area where temperatures of seventy degrees below zero are not uncommon. It was for drilling rights in this "Middle of Nowhere" that forty companies bid competitively for the right to drill and where the greatest ever oil discovery was made.

Though oil was first discovered in one area of Alaska as early as 1903, it was not until 1957 that it was produced in commercial quantities. Alaska is now the eighth leading petroleum products producer.

The production of oil in the Alaska North Slope is a very real problem for those involved, but no greater problem than is the transportation of the oil to the lower forty eight states. It is predicted that in the not too distant future we will sorely need the oil that can be produced in the North Slope area.

Ray Brock, Kiwanian of the Palm City Club of McAllen, Texas, Kenneth Leslie of Beaumont, Texas and Jim Allen of El Dorado were guests at Tuesday's meeting.

Autry Wilson member of the local club was welcomed back home after a stay in the SM-TATE Sanatorium in Booneville where Mr. Wilson was given a completely clean bill of health for which local Kiwanians are most grateful.

rights under the United States Constitution and are seeking through the suit to block the decision to bus the students.

The Sylvan Hills area is about 10 miles from Harris.

mittees.

Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., said the system also protects minority members. There have been times, he said, when a Negro or a Jew could not have been elected chairman.

Others argued that party caucuses have full power to change the method and that writing any reference to seniority into the law would be a step backward.

The House defeated, 196 to 28, a proposal to require that each committee elect its chairman from among the three most senior members.

Then it rejected, 160 to 73, a milder proposal simply declaring that seniority not be the only standard. Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., argued this would be a signal from the House to the parties to revise their procedures.

Rep. Fred Schwengel, R-Iowa, author of the election proposal, said its defeat means "the most we can hope for in this bill" is congressional reorganization and not reform.

He said, "I will now redouble my efforts to secure early decisive action by the House Republican Conference to eliminate seniority at least so far as Republicans are concerned."

Nominations for ASC to End Aug. 17

Hempstead County farmers will soon have the opportunity to nominate by petition candidates for ASC community committee posts.

The nominating period began July 28 and will close August 17. "This year we hope farmers in Hempstead County will nominate by petition full slate for all seven communities. A full slate means a minimum of six candidates to choose from in electing a community committee of three members and two alternates," H.B. Gilbert, Chairman of the Hempstead County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said.

All ASC community committees are elected annually. The newly-elected community committeemen will convene shortly after their September election to elect one new ASC County Committee member and two alternates. County Committee member serve three-year terms, with one new member elected each year. Alternates are elected annually. The chairman explained that the County ASC Committee administers agricultural programs such as marketing quotas and acreage allotments, price-support loans and purchases, conservation cost-sharing, and other farm action programs at the county level, dealing directly with producers. Community committees not only elect County Committee members and alternates, but also help the county committee administer these programs.

"There's no red tape tied up in nominating a community committee candidate by petition," Mr. Gilbert said. "All that's really needed is a sheet of paper naming a candidate — and six or more signatures by eligible voters on that paper. Petitions are limited to one nominee each, but voters may sign as many petitions as they want. A farmer who is an owner, tenant, or sharecropper is an eligible voter in the community where his farm interest is. He can only nominate and vote in one community, however, even if he has farm interests in more than one."

The ASC Committee Chairman said that if at least six eligible candidates are nominated by petitions submitted by farmers in their community, no other nominations need be made. However, if less than six are nominated by petition, the incumbent community committee will complete the slate, selecting candidates actively engaged in farming or ranching.

In all communities of Hempstead County, if fewer than six candidates are nominated by petition, and there is no minority group among those nominated, then at least one representative of this minority group will be nominated when the community committee fills the slate. However, if a full slate of six persons has been nominated by petition nonnominations of any kind can be made by the community committee.

18-Vote Law Faces Early Court Test

By MARK BROWN

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has established a special task force to push for a Supreme Court judgment on the new Voting Rights Act before its most controversial provision—admitting 18-year-olds to the polls—goes into effect Jan. 1.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said in an interview Tuesday he has named Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold, the government's top spokesman before the Supreme Court, to head the task force.

Although precise plans for determining the constitutionality of the new law are not yet firm, Mitchell said, "We hope we will have a final determination before Jan. 1, 1971."

In addition to questions about lowering the voting age by act of Congress rather than through a constitutional amendment, the task force must also prepare a defense of two other major provisions of the law.

One is the abolition of literacy or good-character tests in the 14 states that have them. The second is establishment of a uniform 30-day residency requirement for voting in presidential elections.

All three provisions come into conflict with election laws—and, in some cases, constitutions—of many states.

Mitchell has set the stage for a court case on the new law by asking the states to submit by next Monday details of what they are doing to comply with the provisions.

Unless written assurances are given that a state will comply, the Justice Department will take it to court, Mitchell has said.

In the interview, Mitchell said it has not been decided whether to begin the case before a three-judge federal panel or go directly to the Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court does not begin another term until Oct. 5. In addition, Mitchell is the defendant in a suit filed last month in the District of Columbia by five New York state residents seeking to prevent him from enforcing the new law. The suit could provide a vehicle for a quick Supreme Court test.

Proposed New Law to Unite Consumers in Pressing Fraud Case

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Commerce Committee has approved a bill permitting class action suits, a powerful consumer weapon designed to keep merchants honest.

The controversial measure, subject of a massive lobbying campaign, was approved by the committee Tuesday after months of delay—and only after Committee Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., threatened to keep the panel in session until it acted.

Sent to the Judiciary Committee for review, it is expected to reach the Senate floor in about a month.

Commerce Committee sources said that although major provisions of the bill are opposed by the Nixon administration, both Democrats and Republicans have been under heavy lobbying pressure to delay action further.

Under the bill, consumers who suffered a minimum loss of $10 through what they believed to be fraud could band together and bring suit against a firm—an action most individuals are prevented from doing because of high legal costs.

An administration proposal would have limited class actions to specific areas and permitted them only after the Justice Department successfully brought a suit.

The administration and many industries contend the broader approach would open the way to unwarranted harassment.

Sen. Frank Moss, D-Utah, chairman of the Commerce panel's consumer subcommittee, said provisions in the bill "prevent harassment of sellers, particularly large retailers."

One of these is the minimum $10 individual loss. Moss said judges also would be empowered to review offers of compromise settlements.

Magnuson, sponsor of the first auto safety legislation, said the bill is one of the most important consumer protection measures ever to emerge from his committee.

Besides the class action feature, the bill contains another tough provision. This empowers the Federal Trade Commission, whose will usually has been thwarted by long legal battles, to seek preliminary injunctions to halt deceptive practices while litigation is going on.

The FTC asked for such power but the Commerce and Justice departments opposed it, a committee source said.

The bill imposes civil penalties for hard-core fraud and enables the FTC or Justice Department to compel fraudulent companies to return money taken unfairly.

Meanwhile, President Nixon's consumer adviser asserted the foreign trade bill written by the House Ways and Means Committee will hurt most consumers.

"Higher prices, fewer product choices, reduced competition and a limited supply of imported products are the probable result of the proposed import-quota legislation," said Virginia Knauer, special presidential assistant for consumer affairs.

The committee was to give final consideration to the trade bill today. It limits the amount of foreign-manufactured shoes and textiles brought into the United States.

Hope Man's Wife Has Art Exhibit

Janet Clements, wife of Danny Clements and daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Clements of Hope, is currently presenting an exhibit of her art work at Gallery 107 in Nacogdoches, Texas. Mrs. Clements is completing work on her master of arts degree at Stephen F. Austin State University.

During her undergraduate years she received a Lacy Hunt scholarship and was elected to "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities in 1968." She was graduated with a B. S. degree in 1969.

Mrs. Clements is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alford Bryan of Chester, Texas.

Debbie Shelton of Norfolk, Va., the newly crowned Miss USA, promptly steps into her new role as a young American fashion image by starting at the top and making the first choices for her fall hat wardrobe. Debbie balanced her budget and her selection from the four most popular silhouettes and textures for fall. She selects an oversized puffed beret (upper left) of long-haired fox. To give variety to her wardrobe, Miss USA selects a hat of softest red leather with a sweeping, stitched, cavalier brim (upper right). For spectator and dressy winter wear, she favors a face-framing cloche of white mink (lower left). Off-the-face Breton sailor (lower right) is included as a great all-occasion utility. If people are so busy they can't wait for the phone to ring eight or ten times, then they're too busy to talk.

Another infuriating telephoner is the woman who pours out all her troubles, non-stop for 15 minutes, then when you try to tell her something about yourself or your family, she says, "My favorite TV program just came on. Gotta go."

And then there's the one who talks on and on and on, and if you tell her someone is at the door or your dinner is burning, she calls back in an hour to "finish."

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

ap Television-Radio Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The five or six months of the year when the networks depend largely on reruns to keep the channels open is when their series are in drydock for repairs.

If cast changes are required, the best time to make them is between seasons. If a series' focus or mood is to be changed, it is shifted at leisure.

When mid-September arrives, there will be the usual quota of changes, many of them so small they will be noted only by hardcore fans.

Dean Martin will appear in a new set and his fireman's pole will be retired. "Hogan's Heroes" will have lost one merry prisoner of war—Ivan Dixon but added one, Kenneth Washington. The "To Rome, With Love" children will have lost an aunt but gained a grandfather, Walter Brennan. The "Family Affair" kids will acquire a comic cleaning woman, Nancy Walker.

"Julia" will get a steady beau. "That Girl" Marlo Thomas will become formally engaged to Ted Bessell, her long-playing boyfriend. "High Chaparral's" Cannon family will have lost a boy, Billy Blue, but gained a teen-age Indian ward named Wind.

Perhaps the most delicate repair job is being made on CBS's "Mayberry, R.F.D.," patching the hole caused by the retirement of Frances Bavier. The actress, who played Aunt Bea, was the last member of the cast who was a member of the original "Andy Griffith Show." Two seasons ago, Griffith pulled out except for occasional visits—and Ken Berry took over the lead. The retitled series remained a hit.

Miss Bavier played a warm, motherly housekeeper, first for widower Andy (Griffith) Taylor and then widower Sam (Berry) Jones and their respective sons. It was impossible to slip another actress into the same role. After considerable thought and consultation, the producer signed

Alice Ghostley, a New York comedienne who played Jackie Gleason's woe-begone fiancée in his pre-Miami show. She also was a regular on "The Jonathan Winters Show" and will contin-

Pirates, Mets in Power Struggle

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates and the New York Mets continued their power struggle in the National League East with a little power play—Dave Giusti turned it off in Cincinnati and Donn Clendenon turned it on in New York.

In Cincinnati, where there is seldom a shortage of power with the free-swinging Reds, Giusti came in from the bullpen and short-circuited them in the ninth inning as the Pirates slipped off with a 4-3 victory Tuesday night.

In New York, however, where power-hitting and electrical—usually at a premium during the summer, Clendenon sent a surge through the Mets with two three-run homers as he led them in a 12-2 rout over San Francisco.

The victories kept the Pirates one game ahead of the Mets.

In other games, Los Angeles downed Philadelphia 6-2, Montreal nipped San Diego 5-4, St. Louis trimmed Atlanta 6-4 and, in the afternoon, Houston hammered the Chicago Cubs 10-4.

In the American League, Baltimore axed the Chicago White Sox 4-2, Minnesota topped Cleveland 5-2, Milwaukee halted Washington 5-1, Kansas City nudged Detroit 7-6, Oakland downed Boston 6-4 and the New York Yankees nipped California 6-5.

Giusti, a retread from Houston and St. Louis who was acquired last winter and marched to the top of the Pittsburgh bullpen, turned off the switch in Cincinnati in the ninth inning.

Bruce Dal Canton, 6-1, another bullpener making only his second start of the season for the injury-riddled Pirates, had stopped the slugging Reds on six hits and held a 4-2 lead entering the ninth. But a single by pinch-hitter Jim Stewart knocked him out.

Joe Gibbon relieved, gave up a bloop single to Bobby Tolan and a bunt single to Pete Rose, and left in favor of Giusti.

Giusti got Tony Perez, with his 30 homers and 94 runs batted in, to hit a sacrifice fly; walked Johnny Bench, with his 34 homers and 97 RBI intentionally, and then struck out Bernie Carbo and got Lee May on a fly.

Bill Mazeroski had given the Pirates a 3-0 lead in the second inning with a three-run homer, his fifth, and consecutive doubles by Richie Hebner and Al Oliver in the fifth provided the decisive run as the Pirates won their fifth game in six tries, and their first all year in Cincinnati.

Jim McGlothlin, 11-5, took the loss, but it didn't hurt Cincinnati's lead in the West, which stands at 11½ games over Los Angeles.

With the electrical power already cut in humid, heat-stricken New York and the Mets little known for their muscle, regardless of the weather, Clendenon really turned it on in one of his few starts against a right-hander, Rich Robertson.

He hit a sacrifice fly in the first inning and then blasted a three-run homer in the third for a 5-0 lead. Then, against a lefty in the fourth, he hit his 12th of the season with two on for seven RBI.

Joining Clendenon was the most powerless Met of all, little Bud Harrelson, who stroked a single, double and a triple, scoring three runs and driving in two.

The recipient of all this was Jim McAndrew, 6-8, who stopped the Giants on five hits and fanned Willie Mays three straight times, giving Mays six strike outs in a row before he

White Sox Lose 4-2 to Baltimore

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

When Bill Melton finally got his bat on the ball, it started avoiding Tom Egan's glove.

Melton, the Chicago White Sox' free-swinging young slugger, ended a string of 10 strike outs in as many official trips to the plate with a ninth inning fly ball in Tuesday night's 4-2 loss to Baltimore.

Meanwhile, California catcher Egan set with five passed balls ... and committed a costly error to boot ... as the Angels bowed to the New York Yankees 6-5.

Milwaukee's Al Downing stymied Washington 5-1 with a two-hitter, but Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew, Kansas City's Bob Oliver and Oakland's Sal Bando made solid contact in other AL games, socking decisive home runs as the Twins trimmed Cleveland 5-2, the Royals stunned Detroit 7-6 and the A's slugged Boston 6-4.

In the National League, Pittsburgh edged Cincinnati 4-3, the New York Mets thumped San Francisco 12-2, Los Angeles downed Philadelphia 6-2, Montreal shaded San Diego 5-4, St. Louis beat Atlanta 6-4 and Houston drubbed the Chicago Cubs 10-4.

Orioles southpaw Mike Cuellar, who tossed a three-hitter for his 14th victory in 20 decisions, fanned Melton three times before the Chicago third baseman died to left fielder Don Buford in the ninth, ending his streak of three three strikes of the AL mark set by Washington pitcher Jim Lannan two years ago.

Two walks interrupted Han-nan's run of 13 strikeouts. Mel-day had drawn a walk and been hit by a pitch, in addition to seven strikeouts, during a double-header against Detroit last Friday night. He was making his first start for the Sox since then.

The record of 12 strikeouts in consecutive plate appearances was set in 1955 by former Los Angeles mound ace Sandy Koufax. Pitcher Bill Hands of the Chicago Cubs had a 1968 string of 14 strikeouts, but it was broken by a walk and two sacrifice punts.

Egan's troubles began with a first inning passed ball. He was charged with another in the fourth, a third in the fifth and two more in the sixth when he failed to handle Eddie Fisher's knuckleball. In that inning, Egan also dropped a throw to the plate, allowing Danny Cater to score the deciding run.

While Egan came within one passed ball of the 68-year-old major league record for a single game held by Cincinnati's Harry Vickers, Yankee catcher Thurman Munson peppered California pitching for four hits, including a two-run homer.

Mike McCormick, acquired last week from San Francisco, picked up the victory in his first start for the Yanks with late-inning help from reliever Lindy McDaniel.

Downing, winless in four previous decisions since the Brewers picked him up in a trade with Oakland, limited the Senators to a third inning bloop single by Tom Grieve and a fifth inning single by Tim Lullen.

Tommy Harper drilled his 22nd homer for the Brewers.

Killebrew's 31st homer—a two-run, tie-breaking wallop in the seventh—carried the Twins past Cleveland and snapped Sam McDowell's winning streak at seven games. McDowell, 15-5, also was rocked for a solo homer by Brant Alyea.

Oliver poked a pair of two run homers, the second one with two out in the ninth to bring the Royals from behind against Detroit. Norm Cash had sent the Tigers ahead 6-5 in the eighth with a two-run homer.

Bando's two-run blast in the fifth overcame a 4-3 Boston lead and powered the A's to their seventh straight triumph. All but one run in the game came on homers, Don Mincher and Reggie Jackson also connecting for Oakland while Rico Petrocelli and Reggie Smith unloaded for the Red Sox.

chury and one other Curtis Cupper were beaten Tuesday in the first round of the 49th women's Amateur Trans-Mississippi Golf Championship.

Miss Bastianbury, of Whittier, Calif., was upset by Mrs. Richard Canney of Centreville, Va., 1-up in 19 holes.

Stan Smith Ahead in Tennis Match

INDIANAPOLIS AP — Stan Smith, America's top-ranked Davis Cupper, struggled Tuesday in 90-degree heat to beat the challenge of unseeded Milan Holccek of Czechoslovakia in first round play at the National Clay Court Tennis Championships.

Smith led an array of U.S. and foreign tennis stars who advanced into second round play in the week-long tournament being played for the second straight year at Indianapolis venerable Woodstock Club.

The 6-foot-4 Pasadena, Calif., native won the first set 6-4, lost the second set 2-6 and trailed 2-0 and 3-1 before coming on to take the final set 6-4.

Action was heavy Tuesday in the $50,000 tournament due to two long rain delays on Monday.

Top-seeded American, Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., moved up with an easy 6-3, 6-3 victory over Paul Gerken of East Norfolk, Conn., while the No. 1 foreign seed, Jan Kodec of Czechoslovakia, turned back Indonesia's S. Sugiarta, 6-2, 6-4.

Both defending singles champions also moved into the second round with ease. Second-seeded foreigner Zeljko Franulovic of Yugoslavia, the 1969 men's champ, topped Steve Kruevitz of Baltimore, 6-1, 6-0, while 1969 women's titlist Gail Chamfreau of France won twice.

Mrs. Chamfreau slipped past Jade Schiffman of Riverdale, N.Y., 6-2, 6-0, then dumped Margaret Cooper of Winter Park, Fla., 6-4, 6-2.

Three seeded players fell out of the competition.

Yugoslavia's Nikola Spear upset No. 6 foreigner George Govan of France 7-5, 10-8; France's Jean Ruyver dumped seventh-seeded Dick Crealy of Australia, 8-6, 6-2, and Miguel Olvera of Ecuador eliminated No. 7 U.K.S. seed Roy Barth of San Diego, 3-6, 9-7, 6-3.

Most of the other favorites advanced, including Arthur Ashe, Clark Graebner, Romania's Ion Tiriac, Canadian Mike Belkina and top-seeded American women Nancy Richey, a six-time champion in the Clay Court, and Rosemary Casals.

Champion Defeated in First Round

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — Defending champion Jane Bastianbury and one other Curtis Cupper were beaten Tuesday in the first round of the 49th women's Amateur Trans-Mississippi Golf Championship.

Miss Bastianbury, of Whittier, Calif., was upset by Mrs. Richard Canney of Centreville, Va., 1-up in 19 holes.

Maxi Baughan Renounces Retirement

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Player departures and scrimmage cancellations were the usual at many of pro football's training camps but the Los Angeles Rams were more excited about an addition to their roster.

"This is great news for the Ram coaches, the Ram players and, most of all, Ram fans," Coach George Allen said Tuesday after veteran linebacker Maxi Baughan renounced his retirement.

"Getting Maxi back is like having your quarterback return," Allen said of the 10-year National Football League veteran. The defensive signal caller had undergone knee surgery each of the past two years and announced his retirement after the 1969 season.

"He said his leg feels better than it did a year ago," Allen said of the 30-year-old All-Pro. Allen added he plans to use Baughan as he did two other veterans—Dick Bass and Tommy Mason—last year, holding them out of most preseason games.

Elsewhere, the Washington Redskins and Houston Oilers announced cutbacks in preseason activity.

The Redskins canceled Saturday's annual intrasquad scrimmage which drew 10,000 fans last year. The Oilers, only 10 days away from their exhibition opener with Chicago, cut out one of their two daily workouts.

Houston Coach Wally Lemm said the cutback isn't being made because he feels the team is ready but because with only 24 rookies in camp there's not much more that can be done without the Oiler veterans, absent due to the player-owner dispute.

The Redskins also announced they have dropped six rookies from the squad—wide receiver Vincent Matthews, tackle Frank Goodish, defensive halfback Terrell Ray, defensive tackle Fred Sumrall, linebacker Roy Lee Davis and cornerback Neal Smith.

The player-owner dispute may also force postponement of Saturday's Brian Piccolo benefit game between Chicago and the St. Louis Cardinals. Bears' player representative Hal McRae said the game to benefit the family of Piccolo, who died of cancer last month, may be arranged as an intrasquad scrimmage later in the preseason.

New Orleans waived rookie tackle Bonnie Taylor, a free agent from Grambling, leaving 37 rookies at the Saints' camp, seven of them with minor injuries.

Denver Coach Lou Saban said his already small squad was reduced by three with the cutting of linebacker Mike Johnston of Houston, the voluntary departure of defensive end Jeff Ship of BYU and the failure of No. 3 draft choice, offensive tackle John Kohler of South Dakota, to report to camp to contact the team.

The New York Jets said 13th-round draft choice Walter Groth, a defensive tackle from Baylor, lost his desire for the game and headed home.

Rookie guard Paul Hult of Ohio State was placed on waivers by the Cards.

The San Francisco 49ers cut two free agents—linebacker running back Dwight Staden of Utah and defensive back Earl Smothers of Sacramento State.

Owners Break Off Talks With Players

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — National Football League owners broke off contract talks with the Players Association Tuesday night and immediately were charged by the players with bargaining in bad faith and placing the 1970 professional football season in jeopardy.

Theodore Kheel, labor consultant to the owners' negotiating committee, announced the end of the five-day-old negotiations conducted under the guidance of federal mediators.

"For all practical purposes," said Kheel, "we are just as far apart as when we first met here Friday."

Not so, said Ken Lindquist, labor consultant for the association. "We feel a settlement is near. We want to remain in session. We regret this recess very much. Without communications there is no way to settlement."

It was learned that the owners' committee of Tex Schramm, president of the Dallas Cowboys; Ralph Wilson, owner of the Buffalo Bills; and Rankin Smith, owner of the Atlanta Falcons, would meet in New York Wednesday to formulate a report for the rest of the 26 NFL owners. The committee will meet with the other owners Thursday in Chicago to present suggestions and recommendations for the next step in the dispute.

Hours later, in New York, the Players Association announced that a special meeting of all 26 player-representatives of the NFL teams had been called for Chicago today.

"The meeting is for the purpose of determining a course of action for the days ahead," said the NFLPA spokesman, Tom Vance, in announcing the special meeting at 2 a.m. EDT.

The NFL is running out of time with the first exhibition game scheduled for Aug. 7 in Los Angeles. Nine more are slated for Aug. 8. It will have to cancel the games, play them with rookies and free agents, or perhaps lift the training camp ban on veteran players invoked by the owners until the contract dispute is settled.

Lifting the ban would test the strength of the association, which has directed veteran players to stay away from camp until the negotiation over pension benefits is resolved.

It also was learned after the five-day wall of silence which prevailed over the talks was lifted, that money still was the key issue. The association wants the owners to boost their four-year $18 million dollar pension contribution offer. The owners refuse to budge. The association has asked for $26 million.

The Players' Association committee of president John Mackey of the Baltimore Colts, Ernie Wright of the Cincinnati Bengals and Ken Bowman of the Green Bay Packers was upset by the owners' recess move.

In a statement read by Lindquist, they said, "The National Football League Players Association and its membership is saddened by this development, but we remain hopeful that the owners see fit to return quickly to the bargaining table and the negotiation progress. When the owners are ready to negotiate in good faith an agreement will be concluded. It is, once again, apparent that the owners ... are putting the 1970 professional

Says Game to Be Most Unusual

By JERRY LISKKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — In the words of Otto Graham, dauntless coach of the underdog collegiate squad, the 37th All-Star Football Game will be played at Soldier Field Friday night as "the most unusual in many, many years."

Graham's 56-member collegiate squad and the pro champion Kansas City Chiefs will clash with 11th hour preparation and inspiration after the Chicago Tribune Charity classic nearly was cancelled by the current National Football League owner-player labor dispute.

"We have had only one full scrimmage, but as a group we have the talent to give the Chiefs a heck of a football game and with a couple of breaks we can win it," said Graham, whose All-Stars barely were shaded, 26-24, by the New York Jets last year.

Because the Chiefs didn't get permission from their NFL player colleagues to begin practice until last Saturday, the oddsmakers have been slow in posting an official "line" on the game.

The Chiefs, who smothered the Minnesota Vikings 23-7 in the Super Bowl game last January, may hold considerably less than the customary two-touchdown favoritism accorded the pros in a series they dominate with a 25-9 record.

The game will be telecast nationally via ABC beginning at 9:30 p.m. EDT.

Graham, whose All-Stars recorded the last two collegiate triumphs—in 1963 over the Green Bay Packers and in 1958 over the Detroit Lions—said his troubles have been a lot different than in previous years.

Last year, for instance, Graham had to get along without such superstars as O.J. Simpson of Southern California and Le Roy Keyes of Purdue, who were dickered for big pro contracts.

"This year, we have only two quarterbacks with No. 1 draft choice Terry Bradshaw being sidelined by injury," said Graham. "We missed our usual pro type scrimmage with the St. Louis Cardinals and there also was the psychological affect of the possibility that the game never would be played."

Graham's two quarterbacks, opposing talented Len Dawson of the Chiefs, are Dennis Shaw of San Diego State and Purdue's Mike Phipps.

"Both Shaw and Phipps are fine quarterbacks and the one you see come out to start will be the winner of a coin toss just before the game," said Graham.

Graham minimized his squad's apparent advantage in drilling since July 10 in contrast to the Chiefs' practice start last weekend.

"Don't anybody feel sorry for the Chiefs because they got a late start," said the former star quarterback of the old Cleveland Browns.

Chiefs Cited as Favorite to Win Game

BY ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer

LIBERTY, Mo. AP Coach Hank Stram had his usual "no comment" today about the Kansas City Chiefs being a 10-point favorite to win Friday night's clash in Chicago with the College All-Stars but he did say "there's nothing at all about this game that bothers me."

Stram makes a habit of saying nothing about the odds on a game.

"Playing the All-Stars is part of the package of winning the Super Bowl game," Stram said.

"It is the reward for winning football's biggest prize. It is the only big one we haven't participated in as a team."

Lombardi Surgery Kept Secret

WASHINGTON (AP) — Silence continued Wednesday to surround the latest of two operations performed on coach Vince Lombardi of the Washington Redskins.

Scant detail has been released by the Redskins on the Monday operation, the second in a month Lombardi has undergone. On June 27, the 57-year-old coach had a tumor, said to be non-malignant at the time, and two feet of colon removed.

The only report issued by the Redskins Tuesday was that Lombardi "is resting comfortably."

The Washington Post said in its Wednesday morning editions, however, that Lombardi will not return to his coaching duties this season. The Post story quoted doctors familiar with Lombardi's illness as saying the surgery would prevent his return in time to coach the team.

Lombardi was readmitted to Georgetown University Hospital Monday afternoon for what was then described as a routine checkup and observation. Several hours after he underwent what was described as "additional surgery."

Hogan Makes Rare Golf Appearance

BY BOB GREN
Associated Press Golf Writer

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — The legendary Ben Hogan, making one of his rare competitive appearances, and Gary Player's return to this country spice the field for the rich Westchester Classic Golf Tournament.

One of the strongest arrays of the year is on hand for the $250,000 event that starts Thursday on the tight, 6,700-yard, par-72 Westchester Country Club Course.

All four men who have swept pro golf's big four tournaments — U.S. and British Opens, the PGA and the Masters — are competing. It is one of the few times that Hogan, Player, Jack Nicklaus and the 68-year-old Gene Sarazen have played together.

Hogan, who won three of his four national open titles after coming back from a near-fatal auto accident, snapped a four-year retirement when he competed in the Houston-Champions and Colonial National Invitational events earlier this year.

He finished ninth at Houston and had a first-round 69 at the Colonial before the hilly course took its toll on his once-shattered leg.

"I'm playing pretty good," the 57-year-old Hogan said Wednesday. "But this heat is brutal. I played the other day but had to quit after nine holes. It's just too hot."

Player, off the American circuit since the U.S. Open, said he is having problems with his game and is not certain how long he will remain in the United States.

"I'm having trouble putting everything together," the little South African perfectionist said.

The huge purse — $50,000 to the winner — lured such a strong field that 158 exempt player filed entries. The normal field is 144 and PGA officials had to expand the field to 171 to allow spots for qualifying.

In all, 58 of the top 60 money winners are on hand. The only ones missing are U.S. Open champ Tony Jacklin and Australian Bruce Devlin, who had business commitments.

The field is so strong that it was almost impossible to name a favorite, but the role probably would go to Nicklaus, who won the British Open title for the second time three weeks ago, then last week teamed with Arnold Palmer to win the National Four Ball Championship.

Palmer, as always, is almost certain to be the gallery favorite with Lee Trevino right behind him.

Other standouts include Masters champion Billy Casper, defending titleholder Frank Beard, Dick Lotz, the No. 2 money winner this season and holder of two titles, stormy Dave Hill, 58-year-old Sam Snead, PGA champ Ray Floyd and rebounding Orville Moody, both of whom appear to have broken lengthy slumps.

The international field also includes New Zealand's Bob Charles, Argentina's Roberto de Vicenzo, Canada's George Knudson, Australia's Bruce Crampton and four members of the British Ryder Cup team — Peter Townsend, Brian Barnes, Alex Caygill and Maurice Bembridge.

Tennis-Therapy for Retarded

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—"These kids out here," Bobby Riggs explained, "used to be considered vegetables. Now, we're trying to promote the feeling that they can be helped, rather than giving up on them."

Riggs is the former national singles champion and recently won the Wimbledon Senior Doubles with Jaroslav Drobný. He is part-owner of the Boulevard Gardens Tennis Courts in Queens. When the Association for the Help of Retarded Children in New York asked if he would contribute some of his time and space to retarded kids, he agreed.

Eight youngsters, all decked out in white shirts, shorts and sneakers, showed up with their mothers. One of the boys, named Michael, said he was prepared for his lesson because he had been practicing.

"Yes," he said, "I went to the park and it had two monkey bars and two big swings." Michael, age 8, brushed back his cowlick and looked all about. He was asked what he would like to be when he grew up.

"A big boy," he replied, scanning the clouds.

Every year in America between 100,000 and 200,000 babies are born with some form of mental retardation. Some, like the eight children who came to play tennis with Riggs, are able to avoid institutions. But a lack of understanding and knowledge of the dark depths of their problems has often kept children like them shut up at home.

"These kids often get no exercise," said Henry Villegas, a supervisor at the association, "and they couldn't even go with their parents to a neighbor's house. They'd tear down the walls. Take a look at that boy there. He's seven years old. But he functions on the level of a one-year-old. He walks around aimlessly."

"A benefit of learning a sport like tennis would be to provide a structured way to develop their muscles, their physical bodies. And also to get them to concentrate on something, even if it's just for five minutes. They must learn to accept direction."

"You don't have to think too much in tennis," added Riggs, "but you do have to master certain techniques, like footwork, body position, grasp of racquet. They learn that, they're on the way to improvement, to leading happier lives."

The session began with Riggs taking hold of one child from behind and swinging the racquet with him. The boy, age 9, lost his left shoe; he began to reach out to fondle the camera of a photographer. Riggs brought the boy's attention back and the lad hit the ball. "Looka that," exclaimed Riggs. "Try it again, big boy." The boy grinned.

Michael was next. He hit several with Riggs. Then he hit the ball alone, two-handed, like Pancho Segura, and his cheeks, that had bloated with concentration, deflated upon contact, and he said, "I love tennis."

As Riggs began with another neophyte, a mother let out a chilling shriek, "JIMMY!" Jimmy had wandered off and into the street. The mother dashed after and rescued her boy.

The lessons continued, as Derrick tried to empty all the balls from the bucket as if he were digging for clams, as Chipper tried to throw balls over the court fence, as Michel, a Belgian, tried to kick the tennis ball because he thought the game was soccer.

"I think that with a continuing program they'd be all right," said Riggs, afterward. "They'd learn. In their case, it would take longer than usual. Hell, it might be the best thing in the world for them. They could accomplish something! But of course it takes the patience of Job to stick with it—for teacher as well as student."

Wheeling It

By BOB COCHNAR

NEW YORK—(NEA)—There are a number of precious, faintly anachronistic folkways associated with motor racing which the potential observer ought study before discovering, on race day, that things are never what they seem.

Although racing has more branches than an overdeveloped sycamore, there remains an odd commonality of Total Confusion and Bush Behavior. This is best manifested if you happen to be a member of the press, although cash money ticket buyers are also involved.

Everybody, of course, must have a ticket to get in but, unlike a football or baseball game, tickets to most racing events come attached with string, said string to be affixed to handy button or loop and displayed at all times, for unknown reasons.

Let us suppose you are attending a road race and prefer to sit in the grandstands vertise on the back of his windbreaker some sort of automotive product. Tires and sparkplugs are acceptable; STP is out, as are Hurst Shifters and Lazy A Ball Bearings. You must not have paid for the jacket, although at most tracks you can actually buy them from clever vendors at moderate cost.

Better you should be a driver. It's much more fun and you need only wear one ticket which says, unnecessarily, "Driver." And wear it you must. An Indianapolis competitor whose car ran off the track during the 500 was refused readmittance by a security man until the frustrated driver decked him and ran into the pits. That is the way it is.

(Newspaper Enterprise Ass'n.)

One way to get around not knowing the answer is to be too busy to answer questions.

Gabriel is a Hebrew name that means "strong man of God."

SWING'S THE THING—Conducting the first tennis clinic ever for mentally retarded children, Bobby Riggs, all-time tennis great, shows Michael Harden, 8, how to hit the ball.

Need for Colored Base Shelved

MONTREAL (AP) — Charles O. Finley's suggestion that baseball needs colored bases didn't get very much attention at Tuesday's major league meeting.

It was one of the items that the baseball owners didn't even discuss as the baseball czars shelved several matters and referred others to study.

Finley, the owner of Oakland A's of the American League, said baseball needs a blue bag at first, a red bag at second and so on. Why? No special reason. It is just that Charlie O. likes to keep things moving.

The first day of the two-day sessions were quite uneventful but Chub Feeney, president of the National League, Joe Cronin, president of the American League, and Commissioner Bowie Kuhn promised some interesting news after today's joint session.

Among subjects discussed Tuesday was a proposal by the Montreal Expos of the National League that Canadian amateur baseball be put on an equal footing with that of the United States in terms of grants from the major leagues.

At present, only U.S. amateur baseball benefits from the major leagues' financial program. Kuhn said discussion of the Montreal proposal was favorable.

Two other subject which did not get discussed were a proposed ceiling of 25 on free agents drafted each June and permission to trade future draft choices as in other sports. Both were referred to the winter meeting to be held in December because more study and legislation was required.

Kuhn said there was no discussion of the all-star selection results. This year, fans were allowed to pick the all-stars by ballots distributed across Canada and the United States.

"I anticipate the same method next year," said Kuhn. "We'd like to see the nominations and printing done at a later date so that no one who should be considered is left off the ballot."

Sees Take-over of Railroads

WASHINGTON (AP)—Before the Penn Central reorganized under the Bankruptcy Act, the Department of Transportation told Congress such a move could lead to a government subsidy or takeover of some of the nation's railroads.

Undersecretary James M. Beggs also testified "the likelihood is that the whole rail transportation system in this country would suffer very severely" and the ability of other railroads to obtain needed financing could be severely impaired.

Beggs gave this testimony to a House Appropriations subcommittee June 11, when the administration was planning a Defense Department guarantee of some $200 million bank loans to Penn Central.

The guarantee plan was dropped June 19 in the face of strong congressional opposition. The railroad then went ahead with the reorganization against which Beggs had warned.

The transcript of his testimony was made public today.

Let the Jacobys put you in the declarer's seat today and see how you will try to make four hearts. The simple way is to try the diamond finesse unless you have marked West with the king for his spade overcall. In that case, it won't work.

How about playing West for exactly one diamond with the king? Rather poor percentage, so you give that line up.

There is a complicated elimination play that will work if trumps break 2-2 and West holds four or more clubs. This play is to ruff the third spade and play three rounds of clubs, ruffing the third club. Then you play two rounds of trumps, winding up in dummy, and lead the fourth club. If East fails to follow, you discard your small diamond. West will be on lead and between a rock and a hard place. He will either have to lead a diamond or give you a ruff and discard. That play is ingenious but is not going to work this time.

How about some swindle play? Just ruff the third spade and run off all your trumps. Maybe East and West will discard poorly and give you two diamond tricks anyway. Worth considering and also should be abandoned.

When the late Frank Perkins of Boston, the great New England bridge player of the '30s and '40s and one of the true gentlemen of bridge, held this hand, he tried a different deceptive play.

He discarded his four of diamonds on the third spade. West was still on lead and, while he should not have fallen for this play, he did. West decided Frank couldn't hold anything in diamonds and led a diamond right up to the ace-queen.

Pentagon May Get Civilian Control

By JIM ADAMS

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A blue-ribbon panel's sweeping reorganization plan to strengthen civilian control over the U.S. military establishment has been met in Congress with some enthusiasm—but no commitments. "They're talking about some of the things we've been talking about in Congress for years," Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropriations Committee, said Tuesday. "I'm very enthusiastic about it although I might not agree with every recommendation."

The White House-appointed panel, whose chairman, Gilbert Fitzhugh, called the Pentagon "just an amorphous lump ... with nobody in charge of anything," released its findings Tuesday. The 113 recommendations represent the most far-reaching Defense Department reorganization plan in 10 years.

Both Armed Services Committee chairmen, Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., and Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., said their staffs are studying the 237-page proposal and declined to comment until they see the results.

A major proposal would put a civilian deputy secretary of defense in direct charge of U.S. war and other military operations, and of a centralized intelligence setup.

A related proposal, sure to stir controversy, would strip the Joint Chiefs of Staff of its military operations functions. These would go to a separate staff under a general or admiral directly accountable to the civilian deputy secretary.

The Fitzhugh panel did not say who should be the top military operations officer.

Space Agency Head Quits Joins G.E.

By VERN HAUGLAND

AP Aerospace Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Thomas O. Paine, who guided the National Aeronautics and Space Administration through man's first trip to the moon, is leaving the agency for a job outside the aerospace field.

"I will miss you. I hate to leave. My heart will always be with NASA," Paine said in a letter to the agency's 140,000 employees after he submitted his surprise resignation to President Nixon at the Western White House Tuesday.

He told reporters at San Clemente, Calif., his resignation—effective Sept. 15—had nothing to do with cuts in the space budget. He is returning to the General Electric Co.

In the letter to NASA employees, he said, "Now is the appropriate time for a change in command at NASA, and it coincides with my wish to return to private industry."

He referred also to his family financial obligations, saying:

"From a strictly professional point of view, there's obviously enough excitement and challenge and opportunity to serve in the future space program to almost compel me to continue in NASA despite the growing demands of a family of four teenagers."

"But the fascinating job that I see ahead to which the administrator must be committed will require more months of effort than my personal situation will permit."

The salary of the NASA administrator is $42,500 a year.

Paine, 48, came to the agency in January 1968 as assistant administrator from the General Electric Co. Center for Advanced Studies, Santa Barbara, Calif., of which he was manager.

He became acting administrator of NASA in October 1968 on the retirement of James E. Webb, and was appointed administrator March 5, 1969. He was the third man to hold that office.

President Nixon, in a letter accepting Paine's resignation, said: "It has been a privilege to know you and to work with you and to share with you the sense of excitement, adventure and achievement that has marked this time of triumph in the nation's space program."

There was no indication of a change in Paine's successor. There is no appointment by the agency's No. 2 official, Vice-Chief Deputy Administrator George M. Low, 44, who would become acting administrator.

single officer was turned down by the Hoover Commission 20 years ago when the idea was opposed in Congress.

The military chiefs still would be uniformed heads of their respective services under the Fitzhugh panel proposal, and would retain authority to recruit, train and equip their forces.

Fitzhugh acknowledged the joint chiefs are "less than enthusiastic about the panel's reorganization ideas."

The civilian operations chief would be one of three deputy secretaries sharing the Pentagon's major responsibilities.

A second would be in charge of the major cost items: weapons and equipment research and procurement, military bases and manpower. A third would be in charge of weapons and equipment tests and evaluation.

The strategic missiles in all three services would go under control of one military command, all land-sea-air conventional forces under the control of another, and all supply and logistics under the control of a third.

These three military-wide commands would be directly responsible to the central military operations staff.

A dozen recommendations for curbing cost overruns include "fly before buy" testing of weapons before they are committed to full-scale production, a policy already agreed to by Laird; elimination of nonessential and costly sophisticated gadgetry, and emphasis on modernizing existing weapons systems rather than scrapping them for new ones.

Two of the 14 Fitzhugh panel members dissented. Wilfred J. McNeil, former Pentagon comptroller, said instead of centralizing decision-making authority, the recommendations "should go in the other direction."

Fitzhugh, board chairman of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., said about 90 per cent of the plan could be carried out without approval of Congress.

But Laird has made a point of keeping good relations with Congress, which controls his purse strings, and is likely to seek its blessing even on sections that do not require it.

Laird Orders Crackdown in Hiring

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has ordered a crackdown on subordinates who drag their feet in the hiring and promotion of Negroes, Mexican-Americans and women.

The action was revealed after a presidential defense panel reported Tuesday the Pentagon's nondiscrimination policies "leave much to be desired."

Laird ordered his manpower chief, Asst. Secretary Roger Kelley, to conduct a widespread review and issue a report by Sept. 1 on "what the situation is in each administrative unit of the department."

After that, Laird said, he expects a status report each quarter starting in January which will show "equal opportunity trends, identify problem areas, and indicate corrective actions ..."

Laird noted machinery for handling discrimination complaints "continued to be a source of concern."

He asked Kelley to examine complaint procedures and formulate plans to eliminate deficiencies by Oct. 30.

Further, Laird directed a review of all outstanding Defense Department directives on the question of equal opportunity. A new directive, should be issued, if necessary, he said.

However, some officials acknowledged that directives hardly get to the root of the problem—lower echelon officials who refuse to comply with orders.

The Defense Department employs 1.2 million civilian employees and there often may be a wide gap between directives from the top and performance down below, officials noted.

The blue-ribbon panel studying Pentagon reorganization was obviously aware of this problem, recalling the series of equal opportunity orders issued by Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson and Secretaries of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Clark Clifford.

"The record of implementation, however, leaves much to be desired," the panel said. "In fact, the responsibility for implementation is so diffused that in some areas it has proved to be ineffective."

Minority definitions in the equal opportunity area usually refer to Negroes, but officials said Laird also was concerned about discrimination against Mexican Americans and women, particularly in promotion.

Muzzling of My Lai News Probed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Army has moved to hold further investigations of seven officers implicated in suppressing information about the alleged My Lai massacre.

Announcement of the probes, known as Article 32 investigations, was made Tuesday at Fort Meade, Md., and the Pentagon.

The Army also dismissed charges against two other officers involved in the case, Col. Robert B. Luper and Capt. Kenneth W. Boatman.

Facing further investigation, which will determine whether to recommend a court-martial or dismissal of charges, are:

Maj. Gen. Samuel W. Koster, commander of the Americal Division in Vietnam at the time of the alleged killings, and superintendent of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point when the charges were announced March 27;

Col. Oran K. Henderson; Lt. Col. David C. Gavin; Lt. Col. William D. Guinn Jr.; Maj. Charles C. Calhoun; Maj. Frederick C. Watke; and Capt. Dennis H. Johnson.

All were charged with failure to obey lawful regulations. The charges are based on information compiled by a special Army panel headed by Lt. Gen. William R. Peers and Robert W. McCrate, a lawyer.

In other developments, the Army completed a series of hearings at Ft. McPherson, Ga., to determine whether Capt. Ernest Medina will face a court-martial in the case, and the United States sought to dismiss pleas by two other soldiers in Atlanta, Ga.

Medina is accused of responsibility for 102 of the alleged killings, on March 16, 1968. No result of the hearings was announced.

In Atlanta, U.S. Atty. John Stokes filed a motion in U.S. District Court to dismiss pleas by Spec. 4 Robert T'Souvas and Sgt. Esequiel Torres, who seek to have the Army enjoined from court-martialing them on constitutional grounds.

Both are charged with murder.

Stokes contended the court had no jurisdiction because military law is separate from "the law which governs in our federal judicial establishment."

Rights, Age Bills Get Green Light

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Constitutional amendments to lower the voting age to 18 and to guarantee equal rights for women have received a green light from a Senate Judiciary subcommittee.

But despite the pleadings of Chairman Birch Bayh, D-Ind., subcommittee members would not vote Tuesday on a third amendment which would provide representation in Congress for the District of Columbia's 850,000 residents.

President Nixon has urged congressional approval of the amendment to lower the voting

Music Meets in Chicago Canceled

CHICAGO (AP) — A series of free rock 'n' roll shows to "bridge the generation gap" has been called off because of a performance that erupted into a three-hour battle between spectators and police.

Both Mayor Richard J. Daley and Daniel J. Shannon, president of the park district which sponsored the concerts, said at news conferences Tuesday that the violence had been premeditated.

Shannon said chains, rocks, knives and firearms were brought into Grant Park, scene of the concert, Monday, by "those bent on destruction" who overwhelmed "the good kids who just wanted to communicate with music."

Police arrested 165 persons on charges of mob action in the park and in the downtown district, where windows were smashed and stores looted. The total injured was set at 135, including 65 policemen. Three youths were wounded by gunfire.

Chicago Park District commissioners voted unanimously to cancel four more such concerts set for the Grant Park bandshell and a fifth planned for Soldier Field in September.

Monday's disorder erupted after the crowd demanded the appearance of the rock group Sly and the Family Stone and some youngsters mounted the stage.

In Milwaukee, a limousine driver, Michael Buchanan, 20, said Chicago police had intercepted the soul-rock musician's hired limousine about an hour before the concert was to begin, and escorted Stone's combo to Chicago City Hall instead.

"Sly wanted to go on," Buchanan said, but police reported violence had broken out, and Stone "said that he wasn't going to fight with 60,000 people."

Buchanan was quoted in today's editions of the Milwaukee Sentinel. He drives for a Milwaukee limousine service operated by his father and from which Stone's music group had rented two cars for the trip to Chicago after a concert in Milwaukee.

"Sly is getting blamed for all of the trouble, and he really wasn't the cause of it," Buchanan said. "The police said there was no way to get in the park."

All local candidates and state candidates with two exceptions spoke to the enthusiastic audience and presented their platform. Eight candidates for Governor, six for Lt. Governor, two for Attorney General, two for Senator and State Representative, three for Sheriff, two for County Judge, two for Recorder of the Town of Blevins and two for the job of Committeeman of McNab precinct will be on the Democrat ballot Tuesday, August 25.

Evicted Families Become Squatters in West Side Manhattan

By JOE NICHOLSON Jr.

Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Rivera, who is 28 and drives a tow truck for $125 a week, recently moved his wife and five children into a six-room tenement apartment on Manhattan's upper West Side.

Mrs. Melba Bruno, a 39-year-old divorcee and welfare recipient, also occupied a five-room apartment nearby with her four children.

And, Jimmie Rosario, a factory worker who makes $110 a week, lived briefly with his wife and seven children in a four-story brownstone tenement in Manhattan's Chelsea section.

All of them—the Riveras, Brunos and Rosarios—had one thing in common. They were squatters who illegally seized apartments in vacant, though still habitable, buildings because they claimed they could not find decent, low price housing after their own dwellings had been torn down.

Most of the squatters claim their homes are demolished by landlords to make room for high-rise, luxury apartments the squatters can't afford.

Since the squatter movement began in March, more than 175 poor families have broken into vacant buildings, using crowbars and sledgehammers.

Most of the squatters are Puerto Ricans and Dominicans. The majority of the occupied buildings are city-owned, among the several thousand structures taken over from tax-delinquent landlords or bought for urban renewal.

So far the city has not evicted the squatters from the municipally owned structures.

In fact, said a spokesman for Albert A. Walsh, city housing and development administrator, the city has helped connect water and other utilities for 30 squatter families. He warned, however, that the city would have to evict the squatters when it is time to demolish their buildings.

Mayor John V. Lindsay's housing aides concede the shortage of low-income housing is a crisis here.

"There are 130,000 families on the waiting list for public housing," said Walsh's aide. "I can't dramatize the low-income housing crisis any better than that."

In other urban areas, such as Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles and Philadelphia, authorities report drifters and hippies occasionally move into abandoned buildings.

But only Boston has had a squatter movement similar to the one here. Three times last fall poor families "liberated" apartments in abandoned buildings. Police evicted them, using tear gas.

Rivera explained his plight. He said the large low-rent apartments he could find were "not decent—falling apart, with leaking water and rats and roaches."

"A friend told me there was a group breaking down doors and liberating city buildings, fixing the plumbing, doors, windows, painting," he continued.

"We had to be the leaders. The first night we slept on the floor with no electricity, no gas, no water, no tubs, no toilet bowls. All we had was a candle in front of each door."

"We liberated toilet bowls and sinks from other vacant buildings. Some people bought their own stoves second-hand for $10 or $15."

"It was very rough. This fellow Johnny and myself were up 44 hours without sleep putting in water and gas. Most squatters are women and we had to help them."

The Rev. Henry J. Browne has supported squatters in their confrontations with courts and city agencies.

Browne, pastor of St. Gregory's Roman Catholic church, was asked if the squatters were justified in seizing city-owned and privately owned real estate.

"It's like a starving man eating a loaf of bread," he responded. "Is that stealing?"

"Where can the poor go when their tenements are torn down? Out of their minds mostly. Doubling up in the projects with relatives. It's desperate. This is where the squatting movement began."

"The situation is a comment on our affluence. We don't face housing as a human need. We face it as an industry."

To "ease" the housing crisis by 1974, a housing spokesman said, the city will have to increase its production of low-income apartments from its current rate of 15,000 a year to 40,000 a year.

Federal government subsidy for low-income housing is the only solution, he added, because inflation has drained profits from this type of construction.

"If these people start squatting all over the city, you'll have anarchy, complete chaos," he said.

Faubus Takes Pot Shot at Press

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) —

Former Gov. Orval E. Faubus told the North Little Rock Jaycees Tuesday night the state needed a man as governor who could handle the many problems facing Arkansas.

Faubus, who is seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, said he had proved that he was a capable leader and could handle the state's problems.

The former governor spent

Wants Minimum Wage at $2

By NEIL GILBRIDE

AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany said today low wage workers are hit hardest by inflation and urged Congress to increase the federal minimum wage to at least $2 an hour.

"Inflation hits these people harder than anyone else. Today's minimum wage of $1.60 is just a few cents more in terms of purchasing power than $1.25 was in 1966," Meany said in a statement prepared for the House Education and Labor Committee.

The last minimum wage increase, from $1.25 to $1.60 over several years, were enacted in 1966.

Meany called it shocking that many low paid workers would be better off financially if they quit their jobs and entered the welfare rolls.

"That is appalling," said the 75-year-old leader of the 13.6 million member labor federation. "We do not believe any employed worker should be forced to go on welfare rolls in order to survive."

Meany said the current federal minimum wage means only $3,200 a year to a worker for a full year's work, less two weeks of unpaid vacation. A $2 minimum would provide $4,000 a year.

"Even $2 an hour is barely above the government-defined poverty level for families with two children," Meany said.

Meany also urged Congress to provide double-time pay for overtime work, instead of the present time and one-half and to shorten the work week or the work year.

He said the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act should also be broadened to embrace some 17 million workers, including farm workers, who are not now covered. The law now covers some 40 million workers.

Shortening the federal standard work week would also help spread jobs to combat rising unemployment, he added.

Seeks 20% Increase for Homeowners

LITTLE ROCK (AP) —

Representatives of the Employers Commercial Union group of insurance companies told a state Insurance Department hearing Tuesday that the companies had suffered losses totaling $1,805,119 in writing homeowners policies in Arkansas for the five-year period ending in 1969.

The group seeks a rate increase of 20 per cent in homeowners insurance, although a spokesman for the group said it needs an increase of 28.8 per cent.

James F. Richardson of Wakefield, Mass., associate actuary of the Boston-based group, told a separate hearing on the group's request for a 20 per cent increase in the rates for dwelling fire insurance. He said an increase of 36.2 per cent was indicated by losses of $1,070,662 in the five-year period.

The firms in the group are the Employers Commercial Union Insurance Co. of America, American Employers Insurance Co., The Employers Fire Insurance Co. and the Northern Assurance Co. of America.

They are members of the Multiline Insurance Rating Bureau, which last week asked for a 20 per cent rate increase for member companies. Rating bureau members received a 25 per cent increase in homeowners rates last year.

NYC Would Benefit From Sharing Plan

By JOHN M. PEARCE

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York would be the major beneficiary of the Nixon administration's revenue sharing plan, with California not far behind, a Treasury Department breakdown of the impact of the proposal shows.

The department prepared an 84-page listing of how much each state and most cities and counties would receive when the proposal goes into full effect in 1975—provided it gets through a reluctant Congress.

New York would receive $542.67 million in the first full year, while California would receive $536.57 million, the table shows. However, New York would be required to pass on almost $228 million of its share to local governments—$157 million to New York City alone—while California would pass on only $166 million.

The federal grants would build up to the totals in the years before revenue sharing takes full effect and a full $5 billion is sent from the federal treasury to the states.

The Treasury's breakdown is one facet of a major campaign to urge public support for revenue sharing, which has languished for almost 11 months in congressional committees.

President Nixon, in an unpublished memorandum to senior administration officials late last month, called the plan "the financial heart of the New Federalism" and urged them "to make known, at every suitable occasion, our strong desire to secure its enactment in 1970."

Former Budget Director Robert P. Mayo gave the program a plug in an interview this week, urging that revenue sharing be made "a matter of high national priority."

Nevertheless, Congress has shown little enthusiasm for the plan since Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy sent it the administration bill last September.

Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas, the Democratic chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, has let it be known he doesn't want to be responsible for raising money the state governments will spend because he feels the right to spend government money goes hand in hand with the responsibility to tax.

The most vocal advocates have been Murray L. Weidenbaum, assistant Treasury secretary for economic affairs, and Robert L. Joss, his assistant.

Weidenbaum and Joss have made dozens of speeches to local government officials and report they have the support of "every major organization of potential beneficiaries," such as governors, mayors and city managers.

They prepared the long city-by-city table, which has not yet been officially released but is near completion.

Under the revenue sharing plan, each state's allocation would be figured according to its population and "revenue effort"—the taxes it collects in proportion to its total personal income.

Local government allocations would depend entirely on the revenues they generate in proportion to all the money raised in the state, both by the state government and other local governments. It would reward those that already carry their share of financing in relation to other localities, and penalize those with low level taxes.

The money left over would be available to the state government.

owners insurance, although a spokesman for the group said it needs an increase of 28.8 per cent.

James F. Good News

Critics complain that there isn't anything but bad news in the newspapers nowadays. "Why can't you print good news?" they write. O.K. Here is the good news for today.

Dental researchers think they have found a way to attain 100 per cent fewer cavities. The Christian Science Monitor reports. A clear plastic paint is spread upon the grinding surfaces of the teeth. The film hardens under ultraviolet light into a plastic seal that fills holes that could catch food particles. The plastic has proved 100 per cent successful in preventing decay and protecting teeth in preliminary tests.

Experts expect the plastic eventually to chip off the teeth, but the chipping had only started with 10 per cent of the patients in the preliminary tests. Everybody happy? — Norfolk (Va.) Virginian-Pilot

Oceans Become Garbage Dumps

Explorer Thor Heyerdahl and his crew on the papyrus boat Ra II have reported in more detail after reaching land on the Atlantic Ocean. "The whole ocean is one big garbage dump," said Mr. Norman Baker, the Ra's American crewman.

The men said they most often saw lumps of oil, sometimes as big as half dollars. Presumably the oil had been pumped from tankers. The crew also saw a lot of other debris — bottles, old shoes, plastic containers and other wastes discarded from passing ships. But almost everywhere the gobs of oil.

If this much trash and pollution could have been observed on the Ra's straight-line voyage from Morocco to Barbados, it is reasonable to assume that the condition exists widely over the surface of the ocean, and especially along the shipping lanes.

It is hard to think of the oceans as garbage dumps. But apparently that is what they are and will continue to be unless international agreements are made to prevent shippers from dumping oil and other durable wastes at sea. — Nashville (Tenn.) Tennessean

Blevins School to Open

Supt. Curtis H. Pharr announces the Blevins School will have its faculty meeting August 24. Registration of all students will begin at 8:30 a.m., August 25, and should be completed by 11 a.m. Buses will run.

August 26 will be the first day of school and lunches will be served. The cost of lunches will be $3.00 for students in grades one through six and $3.50 for students in grades seven through twelve.

All bus routes will be approximately the same as last year.

Parents are reminded that students entering school for the first time this year are required by law to have a birth certificate and evidence of successful immunization for the following diseases: smallpox, polio, myelitis, tetanus, diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough), and red measles.

Full days of school are scheduled beginning August 26, 1970. This is subject to change if weather conditions make it necessary to shorten the schedule.

Has Program for Lt.-Gov. Office

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Jim Harrell of Russellville, a Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, Tuesday outlined a four-point program that he plans to initiate if elected. The program included assisting in the industrial development of Arkansas through the prestige of the office, assuming an active role in tourist development in the state, promoting the interest of the young people in an effort to keep them in the state and serving as a legislative liaison officer between the governor's office and the people of Arkansas.

Education Bill Veto Questionable

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has sent President Nixon an education bill appropriating $453 million more than he wants spent—and another budget-raising measure is close behind.

The Senate approved the $4.4 billion education measure Tuesday as the Western White House issued a plea for congressional help in controlling spending.

The House is expected to act this week on an $18 billion compromise appropriation for housing and 23 other federal programs ranging from sewage to space. The total agreed upon by House-Senate negotiators is $541 million more than Nixon's budget request.

The education bill, cited recently by Nixon as an example of rising congressional expenditures, met no Republican resistance as it sailed through the Senate by a unanimous vote.

The chief Republican spokesman on the appropriation bill, Sen. Norris Cotton of New Hampshire, urged Nixon not to veto the measure.

"I just think that ... he will not choose the educational funds for veto when these other appropriations are coming on its heels for much less important purposes," Cotton said.

Housewives Get Tired of Hearing Those Husbandly Remarks

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Husbandly remarks that every housewife gets tired of hearing: "What do you want a new dress for? You haven't even worn out the one you were married in."

"I can't today, but I'll do it tomorrow for sure."

"What I can't understand about you, Harriet, is how you can spend all afternoon watching other people's troubles on those television soap operas and then, the minute I come through the door, you want me to listen to your troubles."

"Well, if you must know why I wanted to marry you, it's because I thought it was a good idea ... at the time."

"Do you have to fix breakfast every morning looking like you were practicing for Halloween?"

"What do you mean I never talk to you anymore? What is there to talk about anyway? The weather or the price of hay?"

"There are going to be some changes made around here, and I mean starting right now."

"What difference does it make if you are putting on a little weight? Only single girls really have to worry about their figure."

"Yeah, I forgot it was our anniversary. By the way, which one

Ceiling on A-Bomb Potential Urged to Halt Arms Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward Brooke has proposed the United States limit its nuclear retaliatory force in an effort to avoid another escalation of the arms race.

The Massachusetts Republican said a firepower ceiling would reassure the Soviet Union that its present nuclear armament was sufficient to deter an enemy, thus avoiding another arms buildup if current arms limitation talks failed.

Brooke's plan, keyed to the U.S.-Soviet Strategic Arms Limitation Talks in Vienna, seeks to halt the spread of nuclear-tipped MIRV missiles.

He described his plan today as the Senate continued its debate over defense spending.

"In the event that the SALT talks produce an agreement limiting MIRV systems, we will need to have the option of installing single-re-entry vehicles on the expensive Minuteman III and Poseidon missiles in which we are investing," Brooke said.

"In the event that such an agreement is not reached and MIRV deployment continues, we shall need to insure that the American MIRV systems remain strictly retaliatory weapons which do not undermine the stable deterrence on which our security rests."

On another area of American military policy, Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a former secretary of the Air Force, said the Senate will find it impossible to make intelligent decisions on the $19.2 billion military procurement bill as long as it lacks complete information on all of the nation's commitments—both open and clandestine—to foreign powers.

The announcement was made at the Western White House Tuesday night, four days after the bill cleared the Senate.

The measure, aimed at lowering the crime rate in the nation's capital but expected to serve as a model for the states, is the first Nixon anticrime proposal to become law.

The legislation expands police authority for wiretapping under court order; sets mandatory minimum sentences for second offenders convicted of armed violent crimes; allows adult trials for juveniles charged with violent crimes; provides more judges and creates a public defender system.

Most of the debate on the bill centered around the no-knock and preventive detention sections.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., called the bill "a victory for repressive criminal procedures."

And Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, said he fears a trend "that places simplistic faith in the mistaken notion that force and repression are the only routes to achieving law and order."

But Sen. Joseph Tydings, D-Md., who managed the bill, argued that the number of felonies in the District of Columbia rose by 122 per cent during the past years while the percentage of convictions declined steadily.

The legislation allows pretrial jailing of persons adjudged likely to endanger community safety, and authorizes police to enter homes without knocking while executing certain search and arrest warrants.

The no-knock feature, designed for use when police fear evidence could be destroyed as they wait at the door, requires that a magistrate approve in each case before it is invoked.

3-Billion Deficit for Nixon Regime

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Winding up a first round of budget-making conferences today, President Nixon faced problems underlined by disclosure of a bigger-than-expected $2.9 billion budget deficit for the past 12 months.

The Western White House announced Tuesday results of federal spending and outlays for the 1970 fiscal year that ended June 30. The red-ink total was $1.1 billion more than a May forecast of $1.8 billion. An official projection last February called for a $1.5 billion surplus.

Nixon and his associates took heart from the fact that spending was below both the February and May estimates, said George P. Shultz, director of the Office of Management and Budget.

In May the administration had predicted spending of $198.2 billion and revenues of $196.4 billion, compared with a February estimate of $197.9 billion in spending and $199.4 billion in receipts.

Actual spending totaled $196.8 billion and actual revenues were $193.8 billion.

This does not square exactly with the announced deficit of $2.9 billion because of rounding off of figures.

"We were successful in holding the expenditure line," said Shultz, who attributed the enlarged fiscal 1970 deficit to a slump in tax revenues caused by the economic slowdown.

Nixon was meeting today with Shultz and other key budget-making advisers to hear their thoughts about projected domestic outlays for the 1972 fiscal year that will go to Congress next January. A similar session on defense and national security spending was held here Tuesday.

Party Secretary Sues for Pay

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Mrs. Connie Alber of Little Rock, former executive secretary of the American Party of Arkansas, filed suit Tuesday in Circuit Court here seeking to collect $6,500 she says the party owes her for back wages.

Mrs. Alber was employed by the party from December 1968 until April 4, when she was expelled at the same time the party removed Jim Johnson as its national committeeman.

Mrs. Alber had been a loyal Johnson supporter prior to their expulsion from the party.

In the suit, Mrs. Alber claims that she was to have been paid $100 a week for the 69-week period but received a total of only $400.

The suit said the party had funds derived from the filing fees of its candidates and asked that the funds be "impounded and attached" so Mrs. Alber could be paid.

36 Robberies Solved by Hope Police

Hope city police cracked a 36-burglary case covering a total of $10,660.14 in cash, jewelry, and other merchandise with the announcement today of the arrest of four persons and the issuing of a warrant for a fifth believed to be out of the state.

Under arrest are: Benjamin Shaw, 15, and Wilbert Ray Shaw, 13, both of Hope, charged with burglary and grand larceny.

Miller Hubbard, Jr., 28, and Paul Cooks, 16, both of Hope, charged with receiving stolen property. The fifth warrant, against a person still missing, also charges receipt of stolen property.

Approximately two-thirds of the jewelry, taken from Keith's Jewelry Store, has been recovered, as well as a large part of the merchandise taken from other stores.

Besides Keith's Jewelry other businesses and residents robbed over a period of several months were B & R Lumber Co., Crow-Burlingame Co., Lewis McLarty, O. W. Mills, Midwest Dairy, Wiggins Alteration, Hope Builders Supply Co., Butane Gas Co., Western Auto Association Store, J. B. Cook Auto Machine Co., Wards Drug Store, Hope Furniture Co., Hempstead County Farm Store, J-4 Parts, Overturn Shoe Store, Crescent Drug Store, Jumbo Burger, B & B Grocery, Davis Discount Building Materials, Leo's Garage, Lloyd Hockett residence, J. A. Kennedy residence, John Gibson residence, Gibson Drug Store, TG&Y, and Owens Department Store.

Benjamin Shaw, Wilbert Shaw, and Paul Cooks will be tried in juvenile court, and Hubbard in circuit court.

Hazen Bucks Integration Order

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Hazen School District Tuesday asked U.S. District Court here to find the district's school desegregation plan that was filed last week to be satisfactory and dismiss a Justice Department law suit against the district.

The Justice Department filed suit July 9 against nine Arkansas school districts, including the Hazen District, seeking complete desegregation by this fall.

Annexation at Malvern Beaten

MALVERN, Ark. (AP) — A proposal to consolidate the towns of Malvern and Rockport was defeated Tuesday.

Voters in Malvern voted 258-9 in favor of the merger, but Rockport residents turned down the proposal 31-51. For the proposal to pass, both towns would have had to approve the measure.

Malvern has a population of about 8,500 and Rockport, located just northwest of Malvern, has about 150 residents.

Cease Fire Blocked by Israel

By MARCUS ELIASON
Associated Press Writer

TEL AVIV (AP) — Right-wing ministers blocked Israel's decision on the U.S. cease-fire proposal Tuesday night by threatening to quit the government if it was accepted.

The cabinet was scheduled to discuss the American proposal again today, and government sources said a majority was expected to give reluctant, qualified approval. But they said Premier Golda Meir was determined to obtain unanimous assent.

The right-wing Gahal party, which holds six of the 24 cabinet seats, split over the U.S. proposal in a stormy meeting. Sources said some members were willing to abstain in the cabinet vote but hardliners refused to accept any compromise.

Some Gahal members said it was "almost 95 per cent certain" that the party would quit the cabinet if it accepted the plan, the government radio reported.

Mrs. Meir conferred with Gahal leaders Tuesday night in an effort to avert a cabinet crisis.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan meanwhile denied that he had threatened to resign if the government accepted the U.S. proposal. He told a group of high school students in Tel Aviv that he would accept the plan reluctantly.

"We are not so strong we can forfeit our allies," he said.

Local press reports said earlier Tuesday that Dayan had misgivings about the plan because it speaks of Israeli withdrawal from lands captured in the 1967 Middle East war. Dayan believes Israel's security depends on retention of the Gaza Strip, the Syrian Golan Heights, and the strip of Sinai coastland that runs from Israel's southern tip to the Red Sea. The Gahal party advocates holding on to all of the occupied territory.

Witness Saw 2 Slain at Tate House

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Screams pierced the darkness, Linda Kasabian said, as a man, blood streaming from his wounds, stumbled from actress Sharon Tate's hilltop mansion across the lawn.

"We looked into each other's eyes for a moment, and I said, 'I'm sorry. I'm sorry. Oh, God, make it stop.'"

Sobbing into her hands, the petite, green-eyed Mrs. Kasabian testified Tuesday that she saw two persons slain at Miss Tate's home Aug. 9 and heard the screams of three other victims pleading for their lives.

"I heard a man scream out 'No, No' and then I just heard screams. I don't have any words to describe how these screams were. It was just unbelievably, horribly terrible," Mrs. Kasabian cried.

The sandy-haired 21-year-old mother of two told her version of the bloodbath as she testified at the murder-conspiracy trial of shaggy-haired cult leader Charles M. Manson, 35, and three women followers.

Mrs. Kasabian said Manson instructed her to follow the orders of his lieutenant, Charles "Tex" Watson. Then he sent Watson, Mrs. Kasabian and two other girl followers on a midnight mission which ended at the home of Miss Tate, 26, a blonde, pregnant movie star.

Mrs. Kasabian testified that she saw Watson shoot to death the first victim, Steven Parent, 18, a visitor driving away from the house, and stab and beat to death Wojciech Frykowski, 37, a Polish-born guest whose body was found later on the lawn.

Mrs. Kasabian said it was Frykowski she encountered on the lawn, and at one point, after he had fallen, he tried to get up and "Tex hit him on the head and was stabbing him in the back ... I don't know how many times. He just kept doing it and doing it and doing it."

Still weeping, Mrs. Kasabian told of seeing one of Manson's codefendants, Patricia "Katie" Krenwinkel, 22, knife raised, chasing nightgown-clad Abigail Folger, 26, across the lawn. Miss Folger, a coffee company heiress, also died outside the house.

Mrs. Kasabian said another defendant, Susan "Sadie" Atkins, 21, approached her in the midst of the killing.

"I said, 'Sadie, make it stop,' but she said, 'It's too late,'" Mrs. Kasabian continued.

Mrs. Kasabian said she didn't see Miss Folger slain. And apparently she didn't witness the killings of Miss Tate and hair stylist Jay Sebring, 35, who died in the house.

Mrs. Kasabian's testimony was interrupted by a rapid-fire volley of objections by Manson's attorney, Irving Kanarek, who vainly challenged virtually every prosecution question.

Heat and Humidity to Continue

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hot and humid weather is expected to continue in Arkansas through Thursday with more scattered thundershowers forecast for tonight.

Sudden downpours drenched some parts of the state Tuesday.

Calico Rock (Izard County) reported almost 1½ inches of rain Tuesday afternoon in a short period of time.

Mammoth Spring (Fulton County) reported 2½ inches in a 25-minute period.

The state is under the same high pressure system that has influenced weather over the central and eastern United States for the past several days. No change is expected in the next few days, due to the absence of a frontal system.

Lows tonight will again range in the 70s.
